The Topic of Discussion:

The combination of the focusing power of TOC combined with the detailed drill down ability of LEAN techniques is quickly becoming a potent combination for continuous improvement initiatives. Attendees will be led through an exploration of how TOC and LEAN techniques integrate to form a detailed and focused improvement path based upon the constraints of an organization

Key Words to be Covered:

Theory of Constraints, Drum-Buffer-Rope, LEAN, Continuous Improvement, Culture Change.

The Speaker:

Jerry Madine has over 25 years of Manufacturing experience with companies such as General Electric and ITT. Jerry is an associate with Constraints Management Group (CMG) out of Seattle, WA and has been involved in numerous implementations of the Theory of Constraints including Drum-Buffer-Rope and associated applications. He is certified by the TOC International Certification Organization in Operations Management and holds a B. S. and MBA from Gannon University in Erie, PA. Jerry currently resides in New Albany, OH.

President's Message

I hope everyone enjoyed our first tour. The Schottenstein Center I am sure was wonderful for all thanks to our VP of programs for getting this together for us. I hope to see you all at the next PDM on The Theory of Constraints and Lean given by Jerry Medine. The PDM will be held on February 20th. Don't forget to register at www.apics-col.org before February 16th.

You still have time to get into a winter class in Columbus if you register soon, check out the website for updated information or fill out the form enclosed in this newsletter. Our classes will help you get certified or keep your certification up to date.

If our winter schedule did not fit on your calendar check out our website and see if you can make one of our summer classes they have now been posted. Do not hesitate to register early.

If you have certification questions contact Steve Fedan at education@apics-col.org.

Finally, if you find yourself with extra time contact me at president@apics-col.org we still have a few board positions open for the remainder of this year. We are also looking for prospects to fill our board for next year.

Sincerely,

Teresa L. Severt, CPIM

President, APICS Columbus
